

Figure 14: Historical asymmetry in Assembly elections, using 2000 cycle districts vs 2010 cycle districts. The X's indicate that a result has been cross aggregated, meaning results were computed on a different district map than the one that actually existed at the time of the election. The dashed lines represent the statistical expectations, and the shaded areas represent the 50% confidence intervals.